1. Four members of the Communist Party of Indochina returned to Vietnam from espionage training in the USSR in June or July 1951. Two of these, known by their Chinese names Minh and Tchong, are now advisors to Le Gian, national director of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam security Service. The third, whose name is unknown, is an advisor to Le Doan, head of the Hanoi Security Service. The fourth, Nguyen Van Trien, was dispatched to Hanoi on an undisclosed mission in early September.
2. The DAV espionage and security organizations have undergone some modification since the return of these individuals from the USSR.
